LANGUAGE
WORLD

 I have to go to the market.
Watch out for the wolf.

 Don't worry, Mother.

 He has a rough voice and black feet.
He will eat you all up.

 We will be very careful.

 Bye, children!

     Bye, Mom.

 Knock, knock, knock!
 Who is it?
 I'm your mother. Open the door.
I have something for you.

 Mommy!
 No! He has a rough voice.
 You're not our mother.
 She has a soft voice.
 You're the wolf.

 Chant!
Go away! Go away! Go away, Wolf!
You are not our mother.
You are a bad wolf.
Go away! Go away! Go away, Wolf!

I have a rough voice because
I have a cold. Open the door.

-  Look at his feet.
-  He has black feet.
-  You're not our mother.
-  She has white feet.
-  You're the wolf.
